

Astonished

My heart is broken of the pain and suffering of life
I don't see anyone who is able to help and who cares Can I ever get used to loneliness? I don't know When you are happy, everyone is your friend Where is everyone at the time of sadness?
When you are bombarded with problems you feel helpless, depressed and lonely In this world filled with misery, astonished and perplexed
you feel captured and in chains Where are all the friends who could help me who could free me from this pain and misery?