

TIME OF STEEL

Is it really so?

In these times there are no feelings.

Is it the time of steel?

The time of machines when nobody loves anybody.

If somebody is crying for help
no one comes to help.

Life is like living in a jungle where money is everything.

Blood has no meaning

Things like kindness, love and happiness exist no more.

People are like one lifeless mass.

Everyone has a heart of stone.

Relationships have no content.

Everybody is thinking of themselves.

Is this really the way we have it today?
