

*When I wake up every morning
I thank God to be alive another day
to be is the keyword for all existence.

Knowing the terms of life
is to pray for staying alive.

Life is something you did not choose death is something you do not like but cannot avoid.

You were born by chance
but your death is determined by nature.

You cry at your birth
you feel sad when you think of death
but your near and dear cry when you are dead.

That's why,
when I go to bed every night
I pray to God to let me meet the next day.
